There are 88 nominations for the Suburban as against 58 last Another Western Man, Edward P. Martin. to Succeed D. R. Forgan as Vice-President-No Opposition in the Field for the Annual Election in February. Secretary Ballou will give out to-day the report of the United States Golf Association committee appointed to name the ticket to be committee appointed to name the ticket to be voted on at the annual meeting, which will probably be held at Delmonico's on Feb. 17. The nominating committee consisted of Devereaux Emmet, chairman, Garden City Golf Club; Herbert Jaques, Country Club, Brookline, and William A. Alexander, Exmoor (III.) Golf Club, and, as there has never been an expectation ticket, the near they have named an opposition ticket, the men they have named may be regarded as unanimously elected.

R. H. Robertson of the Shinnecock Hills Golf Club, following the precedent established by his predecessors in the office, Laurence Curtis and W. B. Thomas, has declined a third term as president and he will be succeeded. term as president, and he will be succeeded by G. Herbert Windeler of Boston, who was last year a vice-president. He has been a warm supporter of the changes in the constitution and by-laws of the U. S. G. A. carried out during President Robertson's terms of office. Windeler having done much to carry the measures by his earnest speeches at the annual and two special meetings held to consider the changes, and the nomination means a conservative adherence to the policy laid down by Roberston and made effective by his vigorous work. laid down by Roberston and made effective by his vigorous work. Windeler, too, took the initiative with Robertson in advocating an invitation to a team of the Oxford and Cambridge Golfing Society, and, although this was voted down at the last annual meeting, on the ground that no part of the expenses of the visiting team could be consistently defrayed, the Bostonian has since carried out and brought to completion the negotiations for the visit of such a team this summer, under conditions that will do honor to the amateur solfers here and abroad.

D. R. Forgan of the Onwentsia Club will be succeeded as a vice-president by another Western man, Edward P. Martin of the Midlothian Country Club. He is a vice-president of the Western Golf Association, and as a delegate to the annual and the last special meeting of the U. S. G. A., Martin proved to be a ready debater, possessed of broad, sound views concerning the game and its future. Adrian H. Larkin also becomes a vice-president, taking the place left vacant by the advancement of Windeler. He has been chairman for two years of the Metropolitan Golf Association's handicap committee, and at the annual meeting on Feb. 3 he will become one of its executive committee. Larkin is a member of the Yountakah Country Club, and his selection gives to New Jersey the representative it lost when R. Bage Kerr gave up the secretaryship in 1901. Samuel Y. Heebner, president of the Golf Association of Philadelphia, is renominated for his fourth term as treasurer, and Maturin Ballou of the Apawamis club is named for the second term as secretary. Thetwo committeemen, who with the officers make up the executive committee, will be Thomas Taylor, Jr., of the Onwentsia club, where he has been prominent on the Committee on Sports, and Daniel Chauncey, president of the Dyker Meadow Golf Club and a charter member of the Garden City Golf Club. The ticket is a very good one, "said President Robertson yesterday, "glving representation to West and East. The outlook for the golfing year in the propo Justus A. B. Cowles, '83, who coached the 'Varsity boat several years ago, urged the crew candidates to maintain a high scholarship to prove that rowing is not incompatible with a good academic standing. He told the men that rowing was a science to be studied as minutely as any other science, and congratulated the college in having Edward Harlen as its rowing instructor.

congratulated the college in having Edward Hanlan as its rowing instructor.

Mr. Cowles said that since Hanlan had come to Columbia both Ellis Ward of Pennsylvania and "Old Man" Courtney of Cornell had reshaped their strokes and rigging to meet Hanlan's advanced methods and that Columbia would be met in the future largely by her own style of watermanship.

Hanlan was tremendously cheered when he rose to speak. He described the progress of aquatics at the university; pointed out how Columbia crews now covered four miles a minute faster than was the case several years ago, and predicted that the intercollegiate struggles in the future would be between Cornell and Columbia.

Manager Lefferts said the new boathouse on the Harlem would be ready for use this year, and appealed to Columbia men to raise on the Harlem would be ready for use this year, and appealed to Columbia men to raise $12.789 this year to support the crew and liquidate an outstanding debt. Stephen P. Nash of the 1901 crew urged the indergraduates to back their crew to the last, and said that past crews have had to fight the faculty as well as the other college crews. Albert W. Putnam of the '95 rowing squad, which won from Cornell at Ithaca, described the disadvantages of the parsmen in former years and praised the new rowing facilities. Capt. Roland P. Jackson of last year's boat said that lack of weight in the shell was largely responsible for last season's defeat. Among the other speakers were Capt. Frederick B. Irvine of the 1990 crew and H. Evelyn Pierrepont, captain and stroke of the '97-crew. The meeting was one of the most enthusiastic ever held on Morningside Heights. mage. Minima make make make make make muck in the cage.

President Pulliam of the National League. President Dreyfuss of the Pittsburg National League Club and Max Fleischmann, one of the owners of the Cincinnati club, were in the city to-day, endeavoring to perfect the details of the plan by which the contract of the Philadelphia club will pass from the present owners.

Whether these gentlemen propose to purchase the club for themselves or for parties whom they represent, parties who will be in sympathy with what is now the dominant faction of the National League, could not be learned; but in either event, the fact remains that they are after the club, and with every prospect of securing it.

For some time past, it is said, Treasurer Rogers has had an aption on the stock held by President Roach and a Mr. Grafley, a minority stockholder. Messrs. Roach and Grafley between them own 50 of the 150 shares of the club. The other 100 shares are owned by Col. Rogers.

The deal, if it is made, will not involve the transfer of the ground, which is owned jointly by Roach and Rogers. Mr. Roach estimates the value of the ground at $300,000 for his half. New Game. Push ball on foot at the Durland Riding Academy last night proved to be a better game Academy last night proved to be a better game than the push ball as played, by teams on horseback in the same ring two weeks ago. Then nothing moved but the horses. Last night the big ball was off the ground as often as on it, bouncing as well as rolling, and the players had to be active with feet and hands. The ball was a tough-skinned mam-moth football, but round and not oval, and, with a circumference of 30 feet, it weighed fifty pounds. The same was played in three periods, of 3 minutes each. The goals were fifty pounds. The game was played in three periods, of 3 minutes each. The goals were 125 feet apart. The teams were:

Red-Marshall Clapp, captain: Charles Previdi, George Rockwell, William Montgomery.
Blue-George Mills, captain: M. J. Tynan, J. C. Punderford, John C. Snedeker.
The ball is blown up with air for each game at an automobile station nearby. It takes thirty minutes to pump it full. To get the ball past the end of the goal counted two points, and to make the goal five points more. It was the first time the game has been played in this city. It is seldom that so much strenuous effort is crowded into such a small space of time. Montgomery got to the ball first, and his push was met by the solid rush of the Blues, the impact sending the ball into the air, where it danced upon the uplifted and striving hands of the two teams. The fighting was all toward the Blues' goal. In the last rush, just as the whistle sounded, the Reds got the ball over the end line and scored two points.

The ball was as quickly in the air at the start of the second period, and the pushing again was all in the territory guarded by the Blues the Reds scoring two points by getting the ball roiled over him. The Reds forced the play and although the Blues kept the ball well off the ground, the Reds' advance could not be checked and two points were scored in less than two minutes.

Play was resumed to finish the period, and the match by sto 0.

There also was some good jeu de barre, hurdle jumping and a music ride in which seventy riders took part. The jeu de barre players were J C Punderford, George Mills and John C Snedeker. They finished with honors even.

Montana Miner Says He'll Fight Sharkey, Corbett and Med'sy in Order.

BUFFALO, Jan. 14.—Jack Munroe, the Montana miner who recently came into prominence in fistiana by staying four rounds with Jim Jeffries, arrived here this morning from Chicago. He was accompanied by his manager. Clark Ball. Both Munroe and Ball left the city to-night. Munroe went to Toronto to visit his sister and will remain there until to-morrow night. Ball left for Medina to spend the night with his parents. Munroe and his manager will return here to-morrow and leave for the East, arriving in New York on Friday morning.

Monroe attracted no little attention on the street, and crowds followed him everywhere. While trying to escape a gathering of men and boys he accidentally ran into Frank Erne. He recognized Erne, and after shaking hands, the two pugliists hurried into the Buffalo gymnasium to escape the crowd. Monroe and the former lightweight champion put on a pair of fishting trunks. Then Erne began to show Monroe a few fine points about the boxing game. Erne did not box with Monroe. He simply tried to show him how to jab, hook, swing and sidestep. Monroe was peased with Erne's efforts, and after spending some time in the gymnasium with Erne, he returned to his hotel. Munroe said he learned much from Erne and expressed a willingness to have Erne teach him to box.

Munroe will fight Tom Sharkey first. He says the fight will take place in May if Sharkey is agreeable. After Sharkey, he will take on Corbett, McCoy and other top-notchers. Corbett and McCoy in Order.

Starr and Brinkama, the two leaders in the Alley Owners' Individual Tournament, were opposed to each other at the first named player's alleys yesterday afternoon. Starr, as expected, won his ninth victory and now he has a lead of three victories, with every indication that he will increase his lead as the tournament progresses. As Starr has sent in his entry to The Sun individual championship tournament, these games should put him right on edge for this important competition. In yesterday's series Starr made an average which has undoubtedly never been equalied in a tournament in four consecutive games. Starr rolled 205, 246, 246 and 223, an average of 245. # Golden State Limited.

Electric lights are everywhere—in the roofs, on the sides of the cars, in the berths. This last feature is worthy of special note, for it not only enables one to undress in comfort, but also, in case one wishes, to read in bed. The berth lights are conven-iently placed and can be turned on and off at pleasure.

The Golden State Limited leaves Chicage daily via the El Paso-Rock Island route. Less than three days to Los Angeles. Thro' cars to Santa Barbara and San Francisco. Compartment and standard aleepers; dining, library, and observation cars. Lowest altitudes of any line across the continent. The Daisy Wins on the Ice at Red Bank. RED BANK, N. J., Jan. 14.- The ice yachs racing season here was opened to-day when the racing season here was opened to-day when the Commodores' race was sailed over the fifteen-mile course. The conditions were all that could be desired. The ice was hard and smooth and the wind was fresh. Eight yachts of the third class started in a contest yachts of the third class started in a contest for prizes donated by Commodore Sam W. Morford of the North Shrewsbury Ice Yacht Club They were: Edward Asay's Dalsy, George Gillig's Wizard, Charles Burd's Witch, Henry Grant's Tyro, Charles Burd's Witch, Charles Irwin's Georgie, Daniel Asay's Zero and Ivy Hance's Northwest. The wind was puffy and at times the yachts were fairly lifted off the ice by the strong breezes. All the yachts carried full still. It was a close race between Dalsy and Wizard for first place. On the first two laps of the triangular course the Wizard was the leading yacht, but on the third lap first place was taken by the Daisy, which kept the lead to the end of the race. Her time was 41 minutes and 40 seconds. The Wizard's time was 41 minutes and 40 seconds.
